

Energy Healing Medical Disclaimer

All information on Andora's Healing Light, LLC is not to be taken as medical advice, but spiritual information. Energy healing is not a substitute for traditional/conventional medical treatment, but should be used as a complementary practice. We are not doctors and can not give medical advice. If you have any serious issues you should consult a doctor or other appropriate healthcare professional.

Energy healing is not a substitute for traditional/conventional Medical treatment. If someone has a serious health imbalance they should see a Doctor or other appropriate healthcare professional. All healing is self healing.

The practitioner may work with crystals and other methods to assist themselves and others in facilitating their own healing process. Energy healing does not use any tissue manipulation or massage and does not ever involve sexual contact of any kind under any circumstance. Unethical people have been known to abuse other people under the pretext of spiritual, holistic and complementary healing. Such people should be reported to authorities promptly.